Standard:

To provide for reimbursement to employees for expenses incurred in the use of personal vehicles for agency business.

CCDS will provide mileage reimbursement for travel that is assigned to an employee during the normal course of their job duties. The Internal Revenue Service allows employers to reimburse employees for the deductible costs of operating a personal car for business use. The agency will provide reimbursement to employees for the use of their personal vehicle driven for agency business.

CCDS does not reimburse mileage for travel to and from an employee's primary worksite. In instances where an employee has a secondary position within the agency (2nd job), the employee is generally responsible for their travel to and from the secondary job location.

Mileage reimbursement is meant to cover only those miles incurred above and beyond the employee's normal commute to his/her place of business. For example, if the normal commuting round trip is 20 miles, and the employee goes on a trip that covers 75 miles, only the incremental 55 miles are reimbursable. The number of days should also be taken into account. If the 75 miles in the above example were incurred over three business days, then the incremental reimbursable miles would be 15 (75 minus 60 (20 miles per day times 3 days)).

Another example would be if the normal commute one way is 10 miles and the employee begins their day at an alternate work location, the employee is to calculate the total number of miles driven from home to work and subtract their normal 10 mile commute. The same premise holds true for end of the day travel where the employee is not returning back to their primary work location before going home for the day.

Whenever possible, CCDS employees are encouraged to use agency vehicles for agency related travel. If an employee chooses not to use an agency vehicle for travel, and one is available for their use, they are not eligible for mileage reimbursement. Exceptions may be made if your travel is at the start or end of your workday.

Standard: Mileage Reimbursement, 2012.04.07.

With regard to the use of agency vehicles, please know that transporting the individuals we serve will always be a priority for access to an agency vehicle. It may be necessary to "bump" someone who has signed out an agency vehicle if you are using the vehicle to transport an individual(s) or traveling a long distance. The employee who is traveling the farthest distance that day has priority use of the agency vehicle.

Procedure:

1. Employees are encouraged to use the electronic version of the reimbursement request form for the greatest ease in completion and calculations. However, the form can be manually completed as well. There are specific mileage reimbursement forms for community support and self-directed direct service professionals.
2. Reimbursement requests should indicate the specific points of travel and times including the street address and city/town and the total miles driven.
3. Employees should deduct their normal commute to and from work for any travel reimbursement request that occurred either at the beginning of their workday or at the end of their workday.
4. Mileage reimbursement requests must be approved by a supervisor and sent to Finance by the 10th of the month following the month in which the original mileage occurred. For example, if the mileage occurred on April 20th, the mileage reimbursement request must be approved by a supervisor and sent to Finance by May 10th. If the 10th falls on a weekend, the deadline for reimbursement requests will be the Friday before.
5. Mileage reimbursement requests for individuals served through self-direction must be signed by the individual served.
6. Reimbursement requests should be made by the 10th of the subsequent month in which mileage occurred unless approved by the Executive Director, or designee. Reimbursement requests that are submitted after corresponding deadline are not eligible for reimbursement.
